Triad Man Wins $100,000 Prize

RALEIGH- The North Carolina Education Lottery (NCEL) today handed over a check to its second $100,000 prize winner. Jeff Weavil of Winston-Salem walked away with a check for $68,001.60 after taxes.

Weavil says he bought $20 worth of "$100,000 Carolina Cash" tickets Friday at Fast Track Exxon in Winston-Salem. He says he was surprised when he realized he had won.

"When I told my wife she said it must be April Fools," said Weavil.

The retired banker said he thought he may invest some of the money and pay bills. His wife, a teacher at Hall-Woodward Elementary School in Winston-Salem, and his daughter accompanied him to the Raleigh Regional Claims Center to get his check.
